

Prohibition for Ontario now.

Toronto, Nov. 29.—The Mail and Empire says today: "The Ontario government has decided to submit to the people a principle of referendum in connection with the prohibition question. The proposal, which bears some resemblance to that of the Manitoba legislature, will be submitted to the voters at the end of the session with a rider attached calling for its submission to the people six to 12 months after its final passage in the local chamber. This is the policy that Premier Ross has decided upon, and it is the one he has adopted in J. R. Stratton's office." The official secretary of the province, however, is wholly opposed to permitting the Manitobans at all, which he believes, to have their say in its decision on an unwise measure.

Despite Mr. Stratton's opposition, the Manitoba legislature has passed a bill, introduced by Mr. W. J. Wilkins of Innisfail, that did the trick.

Nichol & Burroughs, have laid up their horses for the winter, and will take some action or resign. Mr. Stratton is a free lance in politics but he is a good spokesman and perhaps does not quite realize that his premier cannot ignore one of the greatest supporters in his ministerial career of many years standing.

CUAL OIL DID IT ALL

Pittsburg, Nov. 27.—Four persons were burned to death and two seriously injured in a fire early this morning which destroyed the residence of J. C. Miller, on Charles street, Knoxville, a suburb of this city. The dead: Mrs. Miller, 46; her son, 10, and daughter, 8, the way to the hospital.

Alma Miller, aged 19, suffocated. Anna May Miller, aged 16, was autoclaved.

John Miller, aged 9 years, suffocated.

The injured:

J. C. Miller, father.

Two other daughters, aged 11 and 13, were escaped without injury. The fire was caused by the eldest daughter.

Miller was serving as a volunteer to the Red Cross in the kitchen of the home in the oil ignited and the explosion followed, causing the burning oil all over the room.

The flames spread so quickly that Mr. Miller, who had been in the second story window after rescuing his wife and two of his youngest children, was unable to get back to a crimp and died before reaching the hospital.

The other three were overcome by smoke and fumes. The fire was found in the ruins after the fire had been extinguished.

Mr. Miller was recovering from a severe illness and fears are entertained that she will never recover the shock.

A ROOSEVELT STORY

Theodore Roosevelt was not always the mighty hunter he is now—despite the fact that he is a man of big game but that was many years ago when he was a boy boy in a New York tenement.

In the square on the east side stood a Madison Avenue tenement, while sitting the building one Sunday morning he saw a boy poring over a book in the half light outside but making no move to enter.

Roosevelt cast a sweeping and somewhat apprehensive glance around the quiet street and bounded, as to play again.

He sat down, just returning to a walk, and peeped in. When he went home that day he told his mother he had seen a boy under a wall and wanted to accept it.

"But why didn't you go in?" she asked. "There is no harm in entering it."

She said, "I am afraid there is no harm in entering it."

The boy, who was a tramp, followed him to his house and joined our host for a meal or some such.

"What is the cost?" the boy explained.

"Why," explained Theodore, "it is in my bag and I am going to give it to you."

The Real Yukon Story A Parallel of the Jamieson Raid.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Overland through programme, was to seize the arms and ammunition in the barracks, and then proceed to Dawson to capture the rebels. They were hurrying to get at the Yukon, and the Canadian authorities, to help to put down the rebellion threatened by members of the Order of the Northmen.

Three of these officials have arrived at Dawson, and are now en route this way. That serious trouble is imminent in the far North West is considered a certainty. The Yukon department of public works who are in consultation at the present time, are the men who have interests in that country.

The men are Dr. McInnis, Commissioner of Public Works; Mr. G. E. Gruen, and P. E. Meier, assistant engineer.

President H. S. Graves, of the White Pass and Yukon railway company, has also been engaged in consultation with the Canadian officials. The White Pass & Yukon railway is owned largely by Canadian capital, and has its headquarters in Chicago. A determined effort by a hand of men to seize the government and plan for nearly a year in the plot described by the officials, to establish themselves in power.

Seven of the men are Americans and they have grievances, and the third hand is being used in their working style. They believe they have power to secure by force the rights which they consider have been denied them.

General Minto of Canada has been asked to send troops to the Yukon and at least double the number of men to the north. The leaders of the party are officials said.

We expect to receive to Ottawa to-morrow a cablegram from the Canadian government, with the high government about conditions in the territory.

The plot has reached a national phase because so many of the members of the secret order are American, and they are the first to treason. The mounted police have always been competent hereabouts to track down such plots as this in the territory, but this affair is of too serious a nature to be handled by the regular force. The mounted police, we are told, have been secured to help in the investigation, and the information gathered at the inquiry has stirred up various strategic points this side of White Horse, which is the chief point of entry to the Yukon.

"Dawson is to be the capital of the republic." The conspirators depended on the fact that the people of Alaska and circumscribed copies of the grievances, with the grand seal of the organization, to be distributed among the men. Skagway, Hoonahqua and Circle City.

There was an organized conspiracy to seize Dawson, secure the barracks of the North West Mounted Police, with their arms, ammunition, load the banks and pillage the metropolis of the Yukon. Captain H. S. Beeler, head of the secret service of the North West mounted police, says that the plot was hatched to overthrow Canadian rule in the Yukon and lead Dawson to independence. He is a very feasible one, and had it not been discovered by the mounted police in the Yukon and nipped in the bud, the raiders would have accomplished their purpose, and after taking Dawson could have held that place and the Yukon for a long time.

And then, when that would be overwhelmed and each man of the raiders would be a fugitive from the law.

The conspiracy was born in Dawson, but its existence in any other city to the south of Skagway, although there were instances of pro-Boer sympathizers in the United States, and other points in the United States, where the plot was hatched last summer. Several American Fenians who had defected from the English had formed an organization which was called the Order of the Midnight Run. A small band of criminals, discontents, haters of the British rule, and others were recruited, and in the order grew until there were over 500 adherents in September, when the members of the organization in the Yukon became aware of its existence.

Mr. Beeler declines to give particulars of the plot, but it is learned that he noted Fenian from Chicago went to Dawson to take charge of the plot, and details were given to Skagway to form a branch of the order there.

In the meantime, the British and the Americans had agreed to the correct delineation of the Alaska boundary line, and the Canadians, as was expected, the next flag incident.

With over 500 adherents to the projected raid in the name of the midnight run, the plot was well prepared. The Yukon was closed to travel, and had not the plot, the raiders had laid plans whereby the Dawson conspirators would have seized the barracks of the North West mounted police, while the Skagway detachment of the mounted police posts along the Yukon trail, having first set the traps, would have been in a position to surprise post sites, post.

A small band of 150 men, the complete force of the North West mounted police in the Yukon, and those who were with them, were left at the barracks of Dawson. Major Beeler says the scheme was regarded by the Canadian authorities as a farce, in fact, it was thought that the raiders would have been successful had they managed as they expected to surprise the force at Dawson. The discovered, while at work within the office.

Last night two policemen and Private Detective Hunt of the Northern Pacific road ambushed the cracksmen. Hunt opened the door and stood with his gun on the outside of the safe about 1 o'clock. The officers in some confusion through the hole closed the trap and stepped to bolt it. Detective Hunt heard a sharp snap, and the noise of which broke Rankin's arm and the other penetrated the base of his neck. He fell to the floor, unconscious, on which he was standing to the ground and was shortly afterwards removed and died.

He breathes at last at the hospital.

He was identified this morning as he was known to be, he was identified by a bank book found in his pocket. It is not known whether he had a confederate.

Swift to Death.

The Canadian Royal Horse. This May be the Designation of the Third Contingent.

Ottawa, Dec. 2.—The same Canadian Yeomanry selected for the second contingent to South Africa, is only a tentative one. It was put in for the purpose of organizing the Canadian Yeomanry, names now before Colonel Evans. One of the names suggested is the Second Canadian Yeomanry or Mounted Rifles, and the other is Canadian Royal Horse. Major Evans was asked if he had any objection to the title of Canadian Mounted Rifles, and some think it would be appropriate. It is understood that Colonel Evans has first been to the head of the Canadian Royal Horse. But since the other has been decided upon, he has given his mind. Colonel Evans informed your correspondent at a late hour last night that he had no objection of officers yet ready, but he expected to have something today. All the men who have been enlisting out of town have been given out to the regular government contractors. It is said that Major Merritt, under certain conditions, will accept. He will then be no condition of any kind entailed along with his acceptance. The men have been home, and have been commended by Mr. Laurian Smith, of Toronto. It is said that the men are in good health. There is only room for 20 mounted riflemen.

Montreal, Dec. 2.—Applications for enlistment in the Canadian Yeomanry are pouring in at the brigade office. The men are from all parts of the continent and the officials are confident that they will have no difficulty in filling its quota. In Kingston, Dec. 3.—Colonel Montagu, commanding the 1st Canadian, said he could recruit in this district the whole 600 men needed for the Yeomanry, and that volunteers would go into the ranks in event of not receiving commissions.

A Man in a Box.

New York, Dec. 2.—A longshoreman, who dropped into the hold of the steamer Palais, of the Hamburg-American Line, just arrived at this port, was found to have a bear's walk voice call for water. Then he began to moan. Sunlight was streaming through a searchlight and came across the form of a man lying across the floor of the hold. The man was dragged to the dock and became unconscious and is now at the Hospital. He has been treated for a time of recovering or. Indeed, of ever telling us a strange tale. He is a man of 25 years of age. An investigation showed that the stranger had been lured up to the ship and had been forced into a small wooden box. The box was 18 inches square by 18 inches high. In the case was a small bottle which contained a little oil and some crumpled bread. A piece of paper was found in the box marked "John Doe." This side up with care. There were no holes in the case and the man must have crawled through the joining of the planks. The hole was made from the time he was put into the box until the day Palais left port until the day.

Brilliant Function.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The opening day of the fifty-seventh Congress in the house of representatives furnished a spectacle that delighted the country. The members of the body of the house, in crimson and gold, sat in motion, by laborious processes, as they were appointed today, and did not consider it such, as they did, that the entire organization of the house was an encaged specimen. Speaker Henderson was sworn in by General Ingall, "the lion of the West," who delivered a very graceful speech in recognition of the services rendered him, and he in turn administered the oath to the members-elect. The entire session was a brilliant affair. The president and the senators mad the house was organized in a formal manner, with the entire assembly of three consisting of Missouri, Kansas, and Richardson was adjourned to the Senate chamber, and the president and senators waited on the president and inform him that Congress was in session, and that he might have to make the speech.

At the time, the blinding snow storm drawing occurred. That latter event, however, did not interest the public so greatly by the fact that under the new arrangement of seats there was no place for the spectators, and those whose names are drawn did not suffer, as they did on former occasions.

To Rule Quebec.

Toronto, Dec. 2.—Hon. Mr. Tait, who is in the city, characterized himself as a man who has been published in a local evening paper, giving credence to a rumor that he was about to be appointed Lieutenant Governor of Quebec, and that other great cabinet changes would follow.

BUNK HOUSE BURNED.

Nelson, B. C., Dec. 2.—The three-story bunk house at the Silver King mine was burned to the ground early Sunday morning. The loss is $1,400 in consequence of the fire 100 men are laid off for want of accommodations. There were no fatalities.

SHOT FOR LOVE'

A Farm Hand Attacks His Mistress. Orléans, Ont., Dec. 3.—What nearly proved a fatal shooting affray took place here yesterday evening, just before midnight. Mrs. William Reid, young good looking widow, managed to get away from her employer, Mr. Goffin. During the summer she had a young husband working for her by the name of John Evans, whom she was in love with his employer.

A short time ago he went to the evening and went to Mrs. Reid's to ask her to marry him. On Mrs. Reid's refusal he shot her. It is said it is threatening language.

A neighbor named Calvert happened to hear the shot and drew his gun and shot Mrs. Reid, the bullet passing through the bridge of nose.

Calvert grabbed Mrs. Reid, got the revolver from her and after getting assistance from a neighboring farm to look after Mrs. Walker, who was severely wounded, he carried the prisoner in jail in Orléans.

There is only room for 20 mounted riflemen.

Malt Breakfast Food.

18 THE FOOD THAT SATISFIES

Malt Breakfast Food, eaten with bacon, eggs, and bacon, satisfies me, gives me more satisfaction than any dish of oatmeal I have ever had. It is a good food, and I am writing to the manufacturers. It is now a well known fact that oatmeal and bacon are not a good combination owing to the presence of starch. No starch is digested easily assimilated and agrees with all weak stomachs. At all times.

DIED IN DENTIST'S CHAIR.

Brookville, Dec. 2.—About noon an old and esteemed citizen went to a dentist's office to have a tooth removed. He was in excellent health when he sat down in the chair. After examining the dentist said, "I can't get you in time and when he returned less than a minute later he was dead and had been treated for a time with heart disease.

Hunting a Murderer.

Carterright, Mass., Dec. 2.—It has been found that on the evening of the murder of Asling the murderer who went to the house of Mr. Garrison, who lives about 12 miles southeast of the scene of the crime, was at the house at 8 o'clock and returned there that night about 8. He left there the next morning at 6 o'clock.

Chief Elliott got on his rail at Garrison's and followed it until he struck the road again west of the house near Bottineau. The murderer was seen to be walking slowly west and had taken a circle during the next night and not again into the house.

Here and There Events of Interest to Our Readers.

From Friday's Daily.

R. E. Burch, of Red Deer, is in the city today.

W. L. Christie came up from High River yesterday.

Mrs. N. F. Davis will spend the winter in Regina.

A manual training school has been established in the city.

Meers' Prince Brothers have erected a large four mill at Battledale.

The Herald has received a copy of the journals of the legislative assembly.

John Nicholls, a well known writer and editor, has taken charge of the Grentell Sun.

The Regis papers are agitating for improvements in the streets of the capital.

Norman Moody, who has been staying in the Hotel Royal during all his time here, is present at Regina now.

Mr. Hewitt, inspector of schools for eastern Alberta, is at present absent from the city on official duty.

Easter never seems to have a regular start in the city, but this year it is expected with only ordinary promises.

A check for $20,000 was last week handed a Regina farmer on account of his services in the field of agriculture, and the mountie who shot and killed a member of the mounted police, is recovering at Regina now.

The Canadian Pacific railway company has decided to send one of its best engineers to Australia, for the purpose of promoting trade between the Commonwealth and that country.

J. J. Sullivan, who has been visiting in Calgary for the past week, left for his home town this morning in train, accompanied by a woman in a hospital, while his three children are reading at the Sacre Coeur convent.

A feature of the banner for tomorrow night will be the presentation of all members of the local branch of the C. M. A. to be invited to present their banners to the president and the ladies in charge promise a great treat.

W. L. McDonald, who for the last two years has been employed in the ticket office here, has been promoted to the position of agent in this city. Mr. McDonald has just completed a well earned vacation and will assume his new duties on Monday. His place here is taken by Mr. D. McLeod, of Toronto.

Regina Leader, one of the closest friends you have, the Prairie Witness, "India Head," will cease to be a specifically Presbyterian organ, and will become a general newspaper advocating Liberal principles and supporting the present government under the editorial management of D. S. Williams, B.A.

The contest for the most popular paper in the city, the hospital bazaar, between S. J. Clarke, of the Queen's; N. D. Jackson, of the Royal, and W. F. Cochran, of the Grand Central, promises to become interesting. The friends of the contestants are rallying to the support of their favorites. At the close of the bazaar last evening, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Clarke, N. D. Jackson, $18; H. S. McLeod, $21.

Findlay, committee; Dr. Herdman, chaplin.

C. Schenck met with a nasty accident to his right arm yesterday. He was riding a horse which had the reputation of being a very quiet and docile animal, but which had never went wrong with it and without any warning it started to pitch as though it were possessed. Mr. Schenck came to earth and when he was picked up was found to have a broken bone in his right arm, sprained a wrist in the arm and it was thought that the artery had been cut. The arm was bandaged, however, made and the bleeding stopped. A doctor happened along and when he saw the patient he was referred to the Calgarian Hospital where he is doing fairly well.

A most amazing accident took place a couple of miles south of Red Deer, on the road to Lethbridge, when a stag belonging to Mrs. Jas. Whittemore, of Red Deer, attacked the driver of a team of horses. The team of horses ran away, causing the driver to fall off and sustain a fractured skull and a severe internal hemorrhage. The team was captured and the driver was taken to the hospital in Red Deer, where he was operated upon and is now recovering.

C. Schenck met with a nasty accident to his right arm yesterday. He was riding a horse which had the reputation of being a very quiet and docile animal, but which had never gone wrong with it and without any warning it started to pitch as though it were possessed. Mr. Schenck came to earth and when he was picked up was found to have a broken bone in his right arm, sprained a wrist in the arm and it was thought that the artery had been cut. The arm was bandaged, however, made and the bleeding stopped. A doctor happened along and when he saw the patient he was referred to the Calgarian Hospital where he is doing fairly well.

A most amazing accident took place a couple of miles south of Red Deer, on the road to Lethbridge, when a stag belonging to Mrs. Jas. Whittemore, of Red Deer, attacked the driver of a team of horses. The team of horses ran away, causing the driver to fall off and sustain a fractured skull and a severe internal hemorrhage. The team was captured and the driver was taken to the hospital in Red Deer, where he was operated upon and is now recovering.
